formed that the hands work on four roads that run to and by the cemetery. We are too well aware of the condition of the roads, not only in that locality, but everywhere near the city. We know that the county and Taxing-District will do nothing toward building a funeral road to Elmwood, nor to any other cemetery. But if you think they will, and will co-operate with its officers, they will willingly petition the authorities for relief. President Lenow has striven time and time again to get a good road to these grounds. In 1869, the board of aldermen passed a resolution to build a road from M mphis and Charleston railroad bridge, out Pigeon Roost road to Dunlap avenue, and thence south to the north gate of the cemetery. But weep no dear mother; your little gem is safe, your beautifu PEARL safe in a Father's home of love where sin and sorrow can never enter. Sad, sad is the heart o the fond fa her, now since the pet of his household is gone; but grieve not, for our Savor has transplanted your little bud from a world of care to a brighter, fairer clime; there with all the angels bright beholding, the little bud that folded here is now in beauty rare unfolding.

Her tiny hands were folded
Upon her little breast;
A sweet smile lingered on her face
While in her dreamless test.
It seem'd as though the angels
Were whispering to her.
And that she answere with a smile,
Although she did not stir. She was like a building fily, She was like a building fly,
Sorbideen here to grow;
Even in death mass beautiful,
As white and cure as show.
And though within her little grave
We have hald her down to rest,
We know that she will blossom
On the Savior's loving breast.

So fare you well, sweet KATIE PEARL. We have put you from our sight;
